Maintenance instructions Woven Series

Preventative maintenance

It is important that an entrance floor carpet stops as much dirt as possible. A good entrance carpet has a brushing and moisture absorbing effect.

Moisture is the most significant dirt carrier and during rainy periods it is advisable to add a highly absorbent wiping mat (cotton) to the existing entrance carpet. Above all, ensure that this dirt-trap is well maintained otherwise the remaining dirt will be walked into the weave. The length of the entrance carpet partly determines its dirt absorbing capacity.

Daily maintenance

The carpet should be regularly and thoroughly vacuumed from the start. Vacuuming is the most important element of maintenance. It prevents dirt from becoming trapped in the pile material and discolouring the carpet as a result.

The frequency of vacuuming should be aligned to the local conditions, such as the intensity of use. The most frequently used areas of the carpet, like the entrance, the walk-ways and by seating should be intensively vacuumed. Vacuum in slow movements to ensure the dirt is removed.

The type of flooring determines the result and thus the preservation of a beautiful appearance of the PVC floor. Surface vacuuming without a brush is of little value. It does remove visible dirt like lint or bits of paper but it leaves the deeper lying dirt behind. It is precisely that deeper lying dirt that creates permanent contamination and can even be the cause of added wear.

Stain removal

Stains should be removed as soon as possible. When using a stain remover, check with the manufacturer that it will not damage vinyl flooring. Use a scrubbing brush and always rinse with water afterwards. Some substances that can be found in rubber feet, rubber mats, trolley wheels etc. can cause discolouration after long contact that cannot be removed. In the event of an oil spill, wipe up immediately, as the surface may be discoloured.
